Review and Status of Rainfed Farming and Watershed Management in India 19
This publication is a result of the review of the state of art in watershed management in six of the eight member countries of the Farmer Centred Agriculture Resources Management (FARM) program. The member countries are China, India, Indonesia, Nepal, Philippines, Sri Lanka, Thailand and Vietnam. Indonesia and Philippines could not participate in the review. The National Watershed Management Coordinators (NWMC) of the Watershed Management in Tropics and Upper Himalayas (WMTUH) sub-program (UNDP/FAO, RAS/93/063) conducted the review. This was presented at the first Watershed Management Advisory Committee (WMAC) meeting held in Hangzhou, China from 23-26 Nov., 1994. The WMAC meeting was jointly held with the Rainfed Farming Systems in Asia (RAFSA) sub-program/FARM program. The WMTUH/FARM program thanks the NWMCs for their authorship and efforts at the view.

The review was analysed jointly by Dr. Dixon and myself for identifying the policy issues. Based on this the article "Watershed Management Policy Issues in Asia" has been added. It is hoped, this will held the member countries to look at their national watershed management related policies more in depth. At the end of the document a farmers organization network model based on the national experiences has been proposed.

Mr. M.P. Wagley helped me in editing the manuscripts and the final revision and proof reading was done by Miss. Ritu Verma, for which I thank them profoundly. Mr. A. Qureshi, FAO Representative in China, Mr. A. B. Broek, UNDP Assistant Resident Representative in China, Mr. Zhao Yongli, Chinese Country Coordinating Committee (CCC) Chairman, Dr. John Dixon, FARM Program Coordinator, Mr. Bishan Singh Sub-Program Manager of the PCSD, RAS/93/067 from Asian NGO Coalition (ANGOC) and Dr. J. M. Stainburn CTA, RAFSA (RAS/93/062) Sub-Program are thanked for their active participation and contributions in the MAC meeting.

Prof. Wu Deyi, ITRCES, Beijing, Professors Wang Zhaoqian and Wu Jianjun of the Agro-Ecology Institute, Zhejiang Agriculture University, Haungzhou, China, are thanked for I the local arrangements in organizing the joint advisory committee meeting in Haungzhou, China.
